

MISSION

THE CENTER FOR GLOBAL HEALTH NURSING works to effectively pioneer and build capacity for appropriate and sustainable improvements in health and healthcare through innovative nursing research, education, and practice, across cultures, both locally and internationally.

PROMOTE and ADVOCATE for the role of nursing in global health

SUPPORT nursing RESEARCH in global health

EXPAND global health training & educational OPPORTUNITIES in nursing

ESTABLISH sustainable and mutually beneficial PARTNERSHIPS

NURSES AND MIDWIVES DELIVER 80% OF HEALTHCARE WORLDWIDE

NURSES REACH THE MOST VULNERABLE PEOPLE AND COMMUNITIES

ENGAGING NURSES in DESIGN and TESTING of INNOVATIONS is CRITICAL to IMPLEMENTING EFFECTIVE HEALTH PROMOTION INTERVENTIONS

30 RESEARCH & TRAINING PROGRAMS IN 16 COUNTRIES

OPPORTUNITIES FOR UW SCHOOL OF NURSING STUDENTS:

OPPORTUNITIES FOR INTERNATIONAL SCHOLARS

- Visiting scholars program for international faculty researchers
- Visiting graduate students
- Ph.D. program

AREAS OF RESEARCH

GLOBAL IS LOCAL

The health of the entire planet—within our own communities, cities and abroad with studies in:

- Health disparities & vulnerable populations
- Access to health care
- Community-based participatory research

APPLIED GLOBAL HEALTH SYSTEMS

Ensuring proven biomedical interventions work in real-world settings with research in systems analysis, quality improvement, health systems and policy research, dissemination & implementation science, operations research and program evaluation.

AGING & CHRONIC CONDITIONS

Our faculty have expertise in aging and physical well-being, care-giving of older adults, palliative care and cancer support.

Work in aging and chronic conditions is increasingly global, with projects in China, Japan, Russia and Turkey.

SUPPORT GLOBAL HEALTH NURSING

Your gifts to the Center for Global Health Nursing fund will make it possible for faculty, staff and students to improve the health of communities in Seattle and around the world.

Visit nursing.uw.edu to make a gift to the UW School of Nursing and help create a world of good.

NURSING.UW.EDU

For more information, contact CGHN@UW.EDU